GOVERNOR COMES BY THE EXPOSITION

Will Not Return Directly to Richmond from Onancock.

HOLD IMPORTANT SESSION

Joint Auditing Committee at Jamestown To-Day—Mr. Foster a Candidate.

The absence of Governor Swanson rendered the situation exceedingly dull at the Executive Department yesterday, and though Secretary Owen and Mr. Mundy were driving away at routine work, nothing that happened would be of much interest to the public. Leaving her hastily with Adjutant-General Charles J. Anderson Sunday night, the Governor went straight to Onancock to look personally into the riotous conditions there, and he did not communicate with his secretary yesterday. This is taken to indicate that His Excellency found the situation quieting down, and the trouble practically over.

Mrs. Swanson is already at the Jamestown Exposition, preparing to participate in the North Carolina Day celebration, and the Governor will join her there this morning unless something serious "breaks out" to detain him on the Eastern Shore.

Governor and Mrs. Swanson will remain at the exposition during the greater portion of the week. After North Carolina Day comes Massachusetts, and the Virginia Executive and his wife will be prominent in the exercises incident to both. They will return here about Saturday. So far as is known the Governor has no engagements that will take him out of the city next week.

Important Meeting. A most important meeting having relation to the State officers handling money at the seat of government will be held at the Virginia Building, at the Jamestown Exposition, beginning to-day and lasting for several days.

It will be the final session of the joint committee on auditing the accounts of State officials, and its purpose will be to formulate a report to the Governor, which, through His Excellency, will be submitted to the coming session of the Legislature. The committee is composed of Senators Thomas, of Lynchburg, and Lynn, of Loudoun, and Delegates Withers, of Nansemond; Fuller, of Richmond, and Owen, of Prince Edward. Mr. Fuller will leave this morning for the Exposition grounds.

The Legislature appropriated $2,000 for the work, and it has now been completed by two expert accountants—Major W. McK. Evans and Mr. George B. Crenshaw.

What makes the meeting of the committee of all the more interest is the fact that all the officers whose accounts were examined have been invited to appear and answer any questions.

MRS. MOORE ENDS LIFE IN JAMES RIVER

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Important Movement to Be Started by Methodists of City To-Night.

MR. WALKER PARALYZED

First Fine Under Curfew Law Yesterday—Personals and Briefs.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street. The Methodists of this city will hold a mass meeting at Central Church to-night, and Mayor McCarthy, of Richmond, will be the speaker of the occasion. The congregations of the Manchester Methodist churches have united, and will carry on a work which is said to be of great benefit to the city. Just what line will be pursued has not been given out, but it is intimated that the purpose of the movement is to bring about an important reform in the city.

Rev. J. C. Granberry will preside to-night. The music will be furnished by the church choir. Miss Viola Diant will sing a solo. Mayor McCarthy will have for his subject, "Civil Rights." The public are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Walker Critically Ill. Mr. David P. Walker, of Thirteenth and Porter Streets, a member of the firm of Walker & Bullock, of Richmond, who on Sunday suffered a partial stroke of paralysis, continues about the same. His condition is regarded as serious.

Mr. Foster is a gentleman of fine address and was a gallant Confederate soldier during the Civil War. He was for many years commissioner of the revenue and deputy treasurer of Cumberland county, and has already been a strong working Democrat. Mr. Foster is widely recognized in the section where he formerly lived, and has a large number of warm friends in Richmond.

Brief Capital Notes. Governor Swanson has designated Judge Frank P. Christian, of Lynchburg, to hold a part of the August term of the Corporation Court of the city of Richmond, for Judge Henry W. Holt, beginning on Thursday.

The Governor is in receipt of a letter from the secretary of the National Farmers' Congress, requesting that delegates be named from Virginia to the convention, which meets in Oklahoma October 15th-18th. The secretary asks that a large delegation be sent. There were but few callers at either of the State buildings yesterday, and the appearance of things was therefore very quiet at both.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner Jacob N. Brennan is absent from the city on a brief vacation.

SHOCKED OFFICER. Susie Robinson and Ruby Thompson, colored, were sent to jail for thirty days from the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of fighting in the streets. The two women were quarreling over some money when arrested, and Susie tried to get it from where Ruby was in the habit of keeping it. The tussle resulted in a display that shocked the policeman's modesty, and he put the couple under arrest.

Relations are still strained between Mr. Koiner and Ruby Thompson, colored, who were sent to jail for thirty days from the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of fighting in the streets. The two women were quarreling over some money when arrested, and Susie tried to get it from where Ruby was in the habit of keeping it. The tussle resulted in a display that shocked the policeman's modesty, and he put the couple under arrest.

Commissioner Koiner Says He Was Not Notified That Board Intended to Meet.

Some comment having been aroused by his absence, Commissioner of Agriculture George W. Koiner was asked yesterday why he did not attend the last meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, and he promptly replied that he had received no notice, and did not know a session was to be held.

Relations appear still to be somewhat strained between the board and Mr. Koiner. The secretary declares that it has not been customary to notify the commissioner when meetings are to be held; that this one sat in the same building with his office, and that it was supposed he knew of it and would attend.

However, it appears that this was a called meeting, and unless there had been either some public notice in advance or private information to the commissioner, he says he could have no means of knowing.

He got no notice, and there was no advance publication in the papers. Therefore, in ignorance of the meeting, Mr. Koiner left the city on other business.

LEAPS FROM BRIDGE AND DIES IN RIVER

some of the kindly salesgirls. Bowing her head in her hands, she complained that it hurt her terribly. She had some business elsewhere, and though the girls in the store offered to do it for her, the suffering woman went out, saying that she would return in a short while.

It is thought that, owing to her illness and the heat, her mind completely left her after she departed from the store. Wandering aimlessly down Hull Street, towards Mayo's Bridge, she walked out near to the end of the Richmond side, and there she was seen by Bridgekeeper B. B. Seay, who noticed that her actions were rather peculiar. She took off her hat and gazed wildly round, looking up to the sky and then down at the water, seeming as if trying to collect her thoughts. Some passerby called Mr. Seay's attention from her, and that was the last he saw of her, until her body was dragged from the river. By the time he turned again in her direction she had disappeared.

A negro passing across the bridge discovered a woman's purse, hat and umbrella lying near the edge of the sidewalk, and he picked up the articles and took them to Mr. Seay. The bridgekeeper examined the contents of the purse, and found a receipted bill in Mrs. Moore's name. He ran to the telephone and called the Manchester Police Station. By a strange coincidence Mr. Moore was the one to answer.

"Is there a policeman in Manchester named M. J. Moore," asked Mr. Seay. "Yes," replied the officer in great agitation, without giving his name.

Mr. Seay then told him of the discovery of the lady's articles on the bridge. The officer felt that something terrible was wrong, and, picking up his hat, he rushed from the station. Chief of Police Lipscomb was in the place at the time, and he called after the retreating officer. But Mr. Moore was too agitated to reply. He hurried to the Free Bridge, not knowing which bridge had been mentioned, and finding nothing wrong there, went back to his home. There he found his three children in the care of a relative, and his wife missing. He then went down to Mayo's Bridge, where a large crowd had assembled to search for the body. He was told that it was his wife for whom the search was being made, and the big, strong man broke down in an agony of grief, and wept like a little child.

There was nothing he could do, and his brother, James Moore, and kind friends tried to comfort him. He was taken back to his little children, and Captain Lipscomb came an hour or more later to tell him of the finding of the body. The search continued about two hours, Mrs. Moore's body being discovered at about 1:30 o'clock. The news spread like wildfire, and Mrs. Moore was crowded hurried down to Mayo's Bridge, where a large crowd had collected on the opposite side, but he deemed an inquest unnecessary.

From all that could be gathered, it is very evident that Mrs. Moore had no idea where she was or what she was doing.

The leap was made from the west side of the bridge, opposite Mayo's Island, where the hat was found floating in the water. The body drifted down just a little past the boathouse, where it sank in a depth of about four feet.

Sorrow in Manchester. The manner of her death is made more than usually sad and strange from the fact that Mrs. Moore had all the sympathy of the popular officer. She had often said that she could not understand how people could destroy themselves.

Sorrow in Manchester over the tragic end of the officer's wife is universal, and on all sides are heard expressions of sympathy for the popular officer. Freddie, eight years of age; William, three years of age, and a baby girl, twelve months old, Emily Anna, named after her mother.

Mrs. Emily Moore was Mr. Moore's second wife. Her maiden name was Miss Emily Manly. She was born in Devonshire, England, thirty-three years ago. She came to Gordonsville in 1891, on a visit, and here, in Virginia, she decided to stay. Later she removed to Richmond, where she met her husband, and they were married in April, 1895, by Bishop M. de Vyver, in the old Catholic cathedral.

Besides her husband and three children, Mrs. Moore is survived by three brothers—two in England, and one in Australia—and by three sisters—two in Devonshire, and one, Mrs. O. H. Fromolt, of Alexandria, Va.

BUILDERS SEEKING MODIFIED RULES

Object to Some Features of Inspector's Regulations and Will Make Protest.

MAY GO BEFORE COUNCIL

Meeting Held to Suggest Changes Before Law Is Passed.

Architects, builders and contractors and Building Inspector Beck are not of the same opinion concerning the regulations demanded by the new department, and though there is no attempt on the part of the former combination to ignore the inspector, those who must secure permits from the city are seeking to modify rules which they believe severe, and which, they say, may have the effect of checking construction here.

At a meeting yesterday several of the contractors and others discussed the situation at length, and a committee was appointed to suggest certain changes, upon which they will insist. A report will be made to a general meeting, and the matter will then be laid before the department. If the builders fall there they will go to the Council.

Difference of Opinion. Just at the present time there is no ordinance to be followed by the inspectors, as laws were not framed to govern the department recently created. Mr. Beck, however, has secured copies of the building laws from a number of cities, and has endeavored to follow them. The builders, however, contend that it is not right to put New York regulations in effect in Richmond.

Mr. Gilbert J. Hunt, a building contractor, said last night that it was wrong for the public to infer that the builders were simply endeavoring to block the plans of the department, but he admitted that there was a difference of opinion on certain requirements. The builders, for instance, are opposed to the new regulation requiring walls to be thirteen inches thick instead of nine, as has been the general custom heretofore, the nine inches, of course, being above the foundation.

"In the Lee District," said Mr. Hunt, "there is much work under way, and if this thirteen-inch regulation must be observed, a brick dwelling, planned at a cost of $4,000, will cost $4,500. We would not interfere with plans for skyscrapers and big buildings generally, but we believe that the rules as laid down—before an ordinance has been passed—will stop building, especially of medium class houses, for which there is a big demand in Richmond. Our idea is to formulate a report to the building inspector, with the request that he modify his regulations. We will make our suggestions decently and in order."

Thinks It Sufficient. Mr. Hunt called to mind the collapse of a brick house, or rather the walls of a new structure, in the West End about a year ago. Accounts of this, he thought, had been exaggerated. "A regular cloudburst fell," said Mr. Hunt, "when the mortar was green. There were no braces, and, of course, the water washed out the mortar and left no support to the walls. There are nine-inch brick residences two, three and four stories high in Richmond, which have been here for one hundred years, and they are just as strong now as ever."

"Rolled" Him Well. Mary Loving, colored, was charged in the Police Court yesterday morning with stealing $5 from every Thomas, and Justice Crutchfield sent her on to the grand jury. Thomas was visiting the woman in her home, when she went through his pockets.

To Have Picnic. The colored employees of the tobacco factories here will hold a big picnic at Magnolia Park on Saturday. The park management is now busy issuing free tickets to every employee and his family. Each factory is being visited.

LAZY LIVER. "I find Cascarets so good that I would not be without them. I was troubled a great deal with torpid liver and headache. Now since taking Cascarets Candy Cathartic I feel very much better. I shall certainly recommend them to my friends as the best medicine I have ever seen." Anna Babin, Orleans Hill No. 2, Fall River, Mass.

YELLOWSTONE PARK

IDEAL IN SEPTEMBER

Every month of the open season is delightful in the Park, but the early days of September present its wonderful charms in the best light. The temperature is bracing, the atmosphere without a blemish, the view distinct, and the roads at their best. The coach ride of 145 miles by easy stages, in full daylight, makes this a distinctively close-to-nature outing.

The Pennsylvania Railroad offers a most attractive tour, leaving the East on September 3d, arriving in the Park on the 6th and remaining until the 11th, allowing five and one-half days of perfect sight-seeing.

The return trip, by way of the bustling cities of the North Pacific Coast, through Oregon, Idaho, Utah, and the scenic trail of Colorado, is enhanced in interest by the charm of the season.

Excursion tickets, including all necessary expenses, will be sold from Washington and Baltimore at $229; and at proportionate rates from other cities.

A completely-appointed special train, in charge of Tourist Agent and Chaperon, for the exclusive use of the party, adds to the uniqueness of the trip.

As the membership of the party is necessarily limited, applications for reservations and itineraries should be made at once to B. M. Newbold, P. A. S. E. D., 15th and G Streets, N. W., Washington; Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia, or to Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agents.

THINGS DOING IN HENRICO COUNTY

Lodges Unite in Big Basket Picnic at Westhampton on Thursday.

NEW ROAD TO RICHMOND

Viewers Will Probably Submit Report on Monday—Dr. Michael at Work.

Pioneer Council, No. 31, J. O. U. A. M., of Ridge Church, has completed all arrangements for its annual basket picnic, which will be held on Thursday at Westhampton Park, Tuckahoe Lodge, No. 163, L. O. O. F., has accepted an invitation to unite with the council on this picnic, as have also Violet and Mayflower Councils, D. of L., of Ridge Church and Short Pump. All three lodges will be present. Tuckahoe Lodge particularly desires its members to take notice of the date and hopes every member will attend. There will be dancing during the day and night, and also other amusements. A very enjoyable time is expected, and the members of the four lodges are anticipating much pleasure in meeting one another.

New Road. The viewers recently appointed to report upon the road to be constructed from Barton Heights to Richmond will have their report ready to submit to the Board of Supervisors at the special meeting to be held on Monday. Right of way has been given by most of the owners of the property through which the road is to pass. The thoroughfare will open up a new route into the city and will be free of toll.

Mr. Riggs's Close Call. Mr. N. C. Riggs, of Varina District, who was severely injured by the kick of a horse on Friday, is reported to be much improved. He was taking an old horse to the animal hospital, and the horse resisted the operation and kicked back, one of the nails in the shoe cutting Mr. Riggs in the leg, severing an artery. Before surgical attention could be summoned the injured man bled almost to death. However, the flow of blood was stopped and the wound was dressed in time.

Justice Angle on Deck. Justice Angle held court in the basement of the courthouse yesterday for the first time since his recent illness. He fined three tramps for beating their way to town on a Chesapeake and Ohio freight train.

Surveys were engaged yesterday laying off the grounds of the Henric Hospital. As soon as this work is completed Deputy Green, who has charge of the jail, will proceed to beautify the yard and the rear grounds. They need it.

Notes By the Wayside. Many candidates were about the courthouse yesterday shaking hands with the foreigners, and as many more were beating the bushes in the rural districts.

Dr. Michael, the new county Democratic chairman, was at the courthouse yesterday familiarizing himself with the duties of his office. He will be about there every day until the primary election is over and done with.

Several of the candidates walked up to party headquarters yesterday and paid their entrance fees. All will have to do this by the 21st, or their names will be dropped from the list. It is fair to predict that none will be missing when the final roll shall be called.

JUDGE NOT COMING. No Session of United States Circuit Court of Appeals Here To-Morrow. Although the special monthly term of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here was scheduled for to-morrow, the business upon the docket is not sufficient to justify the judges in coming, and there will be no sitting until September. Therefore, Judge Pritchard, who has charge of the Virginia passenger rate injunction cases, will not be here, and the amendment of orders in the matter will be signed at Asheville instead of at Richmond.

WILL OPERATE TO-DAY. Mrs. Forest S. Chesterman is Taken to Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Forest S. Chesterman, wife of Captain Chesterman of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, was taken to the Memorial Hospital last night, where to-day she will be operated upon for appendicitis. Mrs. Chesterman has been about for some time, and her physician, Dr. Manfred Call, decided yesterday that treatment at the hospital would be necessary. The operation will be performed by Dr. Charles E. Robins.

BAR-ROOM MUSIC MADE THEM HAPPY

Witnesses in Moseley License Case Did Not Hate the Tainted Melody.

POLICE OPPOSED GRANT

Governor Case Goes Over to Later Term, Witnesses Being Away.

When two applications for liquor license came up for consideration in the Hustings Court yesterday, police officers and others were there to oppose the granting of privileges; but the day ended in a bloodless victory. Louis J. Governor's application was opposed, and as the docket was sound-ed Mr. Pierce, representing the complainant, stated that, owing to the absence of witnesses for the State he would ask that the case go over to a later date. Judge Witt readily consented, and not a single witness, for or against Governor, testified. They will do so later, however.

Objectionable Resort. The police opposed the granting of another license to C. H. Moseley, colored, at First and Charity Streets, and persons living in the immediate vicinity of the saloon gave different accounts when called to the stand. The police considered it a very objectionable resort. Some of the neighbors, however, declared that it was not a menace, and they felt no hesitancy in saying that the sweet strains of high-class and ragtime melody which were wafted from the establishment was more delightful than otherwise. Moseley is a big negro of the minstrel type, a fact to which Lawyer Harry Smith called the attention of the court. The saloon man testified that there had been one or two disturbances in his place, but that he had promptly telephoned for the police.

"I have had several quartets at my place," said Moseley, "and I love to sing myself. One night I went to the officer on the corner and asked him if he objected to the music, and he told me he rather liked it."

The musical end of the shop was given due prominence in the evidence. All the witnesses had not been examined when court adjourned for the day, and the hearing will be continued this morning.

TOO YOUNG FOR JAIL. John Jones, colored, Found in Store. Only Eight Years Old. Percy Lee and John Jones, both colored, the latter only eight years old, were charged in the Police Court yesterday morning with breaking into Teney's store. Nothing had been stolen, but it looked as if the boys were preparing for business. The older boy was sent to jail for sixty days, but Justice Crutchfield decided that the other was too young to be punished, and allowed him to go free.

Fell Through Window. John Clary, white, was fined $2.50 in the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of being drunk. It was learned afterward that while drunk he had fallen through a plateglass window on Broad Street and smashed it to pieces.
